Upper Astoria youths played downtown youngsters a game of football

yesterday afternoon. The Uppers are still upper, the score standing 17 to 0 against the down-towners. The latter claim that their opponents were twice as large and heavy as they.

The English and American governmental demand for transports and the phenomenal increase in all lines of general business have created a scarcity of tonnage, and charters are advancing. With farmers holding their grain for better prices and ship-owners making extravagant demands for tonnage, there is little movement in wheat.

The steamer State of California is now in command of Captain John W. Gage, a veteran of the Columbia-San Francisco route. Nearly 40 years ago Captain Gage was master on sailers plying between the Columbia river and the Golden Gate. He is a splendid sailor and a popular captain. He was transferred from the Umatilla, running between San Francisco and Puget sound.

Miss Sigoe Palmberg, recently arriving from the East, desires to announce to the ladies of Astoria that she has opened dressmaking parlors on Ninth street, near Commercial, next door to Dellinger's printing office. Miss Palmberg has had thorough experience in cutting and fitting ladies' garments of all kinds, particularly tailor-made suits and cloaks of the latest and most fashionable designs.

The tug that has been in course of construction at the Astoria Iron Works will be launched next Tuesday afternoon. The vessel would have been the property of H. B. Borthwick, but since his death it has passed into the possession of the iron works. Miss Grace Fox will christen the boat as she passes into old Columbia. President John Fox will carry out the purpose of Mr. Borthwick in naming the tug, and she will be known as the Jessie Borthwick.

The steamer Aberdeen, which crossed out last Saturday for San Francisco, encountered a severe storm off Point Reyes. One heavy sea broke aboard, deck lashings were broken and part of the deckload washed away. A portion of the lumber caught in the rigging and pulled the mainmast out of the vessel. Captain Peterson got his vessel before the gale and kept her there until repairs were made. The steamer then went on to San Francisco.

The case of the boys charged with having broken into Nick Clinton's tool house and destroying property was tried before County Judge Gray yesterday afternoon. Attorney Allen appeared for the boys. There was no evidence introduced to implicate the youthful defendants in any way with the disappearance of the articles, except that it was shown that some of them occasionally played about the premises. Their declared innocence was confirmed and Judge Gray dismissed the case.

Captain Turner is meeting with difficulty in raising the barge Washington. This barge, loaded with stone, was sunk near Goble in the spring, and Captain Turner of the San Francisco Wrecking Company took the job of bringing her to the surface. The cargo has been removed for some time, but it is evident that sand has found its way into the hull in such a position it cannot be reached to be pumped out. Barges and tackle will be used, however, and it is thought the work will soon be successfully accomplished.

Judge McBride has rendered a decision at St. Helena turning all the property of the late H. B. Borthwick over to the administrator, Dan J. Moore of Portland. Upon qualifying, the administrator moved to have the writ of execution issued immediately after Mr. Borthwick's death recalled. Judge McBride ordered the writ quashed. Sheriff Linville, when seen by an Astorian reporter yesterday, stated that he had as yet received no order dissolving the attachment on the tug, yard and other Astoria property, but he is expecting it shortly.

The American Seaman's Friends' Society at Portland has been consolidated with the Portland Institute of the London Mission to Seamen Society, and the work will be continued under the name of the latter organization. Burns, Captain Hoben, Captain J. A. Brown and M. N. Hamilton compose the managing committee, insuring an active and intelligent administration.

The directors of the Astoria public schools might communicate with the directors of the Newberg public schools. Both boards are financially embarrassed, but in opposite ways. The Astoria district is woefully short of funds, while Newberg has more money than she knows what to do with. The state law provides that any school money not used up during any school year must be turned back into the county fund. Naturally, the Newberg board dislikes to handle money and then let it lapse back to the county, and it is in a quandary as to its best expenditure. A local Solomon suggests that Astoria and Newberg might "even up."

THE RESOURCES OF OREGON.

A Fine Compendium Recently Issued by the State Board of Agriculture. The chamber of commerce recently received from Salem a large number of copies of "The Resources of Oregon," collated and prepared by the state board of agriculture. President Van Duzen personally distributed the pamphlets yesterday, placing them where they will be most accessible to any one interested.

It is a valuable compilation. The 262 pages are full of valuable information and statistics. A citizen of Oregon, until he reads the facts and figures therein presented, can hardly realize the importance and vastness the various industries of the state have attained. Of course there have been great changes even since the last revision of the state industrial census, but the change has been an advance in every direction. Besides a general description of the state's industries, there is a special write-up of each county and its resources, making it in all a fine compendium with which to advertise the state and attract desirable immigration.

Steel and A. K. Durnal, joined him yesterday and spent the day in the city taking pointers. They returned home last evening, but Mr. Sweeney will go down to Seaside for a short time.

RADICAL LITERATURE.

We know of only one book store in Portland where so complete a line of novels can be obtained, on all the radical subjects of the day under discussion as can be seen at Jones' Book Store, 231 Alder street.

HORRORS OF PHILIPPINE WAR.

Tales come to us of the sufferings endured by our brave soldiers in the Philippines. The papers ring with them, sympathy is freely given. And yet there are people in our midst of whom we hear nothing, who are just as brave. They are suffering silently and fighting bravely with the greatest enemy of mankind—Dyspepsia and all its terrible ills. There is relief for them if they will take Hostetter's Stomach Bitters faithfully. It will cure dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, malaria, fever and ague and liver and kidney troubles. It tones up the whole system. Get it from any druggist and see that a private Revenue Stamp covers the neck of the bottle.

An Attraction for the Ladies. At the exposition in Portland there is an object of especial interest to the ladies in the way of an ideal waist and skirt supporter.
